Sir,

I have this day directed the transfer to your office of fractional silver coin, as stated in office form 3-Accounts of the 6th inst.

When these transfers are received by you they will be included with the uncurrent fractional silver in your office in one transfer order to the Mint in your city for recoinage into dimes.

It is suggested, therefore, that the packages in which they are received by you be kept intact, so that when the Mint proves the count, and any discrepancy in the amount is shown, the tags or wrappers can be returned to the proper office for correction
